"When we first started around 2 years ago, I tried to work with a few frontend developers but I had to look for a new one every few days because none of them were doing a good job. Then I met Ilya and we ended up working for more than a year. He is very knowledgeable when it comes to frontend development, he is also very passionate about the project. The best part of working with Ilya was that I felt like he is a member of the team as opposed to a freelancer, very dedicated and passionate. I'll definitely work with him again when a new project comes up and would totally recommend him to anyone else looking for a rockstar frontend developer."

"Ilya is a highly talented developer. He developed what I needed very fast and with enthusiasm.But unfortunately he does not follow detailed specifications - In this instance a very detailed requirement regarding behaviors of the page in different responsive layouts. I gave him a specific reference to follow + had a video meeting to make sure he understands + asked un various occasions to follow the specs. In the end, Ilya did what he thought to be correct, and that wasn't what I asked for, He asked for extra time to fix and I refused. Hence I cannot recommend him."
